Installation Instructions (EN)

Preparation:

1. Prepare the wall on which you want to stick the self-adhesive photo wallpaper:

- Make sure the wall is dry, clean and free of grease.
- Make sure the wall is free of holes. If there are any, they should be filled.
- In the case of walls without any primer or paint coating (e.g. plasterboard, mineral plasters, gypsum plasters, concrete surfaces), they should be primed with an appropriate primer.
- If the wall is covered with wallpaper – clean the wall of all layers of old wallpaper and then prime the wall.
- If there are contrasting colours on the wall, it is recommended to use a light base before applying the self-adhesive photo wallpaper, which will even out the background colours and facilitate even coverage with the self-adhesive photo wallpaper. Thanks to this, the self-adhesive photo wallpaper will adhere better, and the pattern will not be disturbed by the intense colours of the substrate.
- To obtain a perfect effect, the surface should be primed with an appropriate primer.

ATTENTION!!!

- Do not apply self-adhesive photo wallpaper immediately after painting the wall - you must wait 28 days!
- The application of self-adhesive photo wallpaper should be done after the paint has completely dried in accordance with the paint manufacturer's recommendations (usually about 21-28 days).
- Self-adhesive photo wallpaper is not intended for use on latex or acrylic paints or on walls with an uneven or textured surface as this may lead to the wallpaper peeling off.

2. Unpack the self-adhesive photo wallpaper and check whether the patterns on the rolls match when placed next to each other. If you notice that the pattern or color does not match the order, or the edges of the rolls do not match properly, do not apply the self-adhesive photo wallpaper. In case of problems, contact the supplier. Complaints regarding inconsistencies will not be considered after it has been glued to the wall. Any irregularities should be reported before installation. Do not start the application process until any doubts or discrepancies have been clarified.

3. Prepare the materials and tools needed to install the self-adhesive photo wallpaper:

- Pencil, scissors, measuring tools
- Wallpaper roller, flexible pressure roller or delicate squeegee
- Masking tape

4. It is not recommended to apply self-adhesive photo wallpaper in very dry or cold rooms, as these conditions may negatively affect its adhesion and durability.

Installation:

1. After making sure that the self-adhesive photo wallpaper matches your order (in terms of quality, colors, and pattern and edge matching), arrange the strips in the correct order, according to their arrangement on the wall. Before applying the self-adhesive photo wallpaper, spread all of its strips on a flat and clean surface so that they can straighten out completely.

2. Marking the vertical and position of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper strips – using a long ruler, spirit level or ruler, mark vertical lines on the wall at intervals corresponding to the width of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper. These lines will serve as auxiliary markings, facilitating precise application.

3. Prepare the first strip of self-adhesive photo wallpaper, starting from the top. Attach the side and top of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper using masking tape so that it is positioned correctly in its intended place. Make sure that the strip of self-adhesive photo wallpaper is evenly matched to the previously marked vertical lines on the wall (according to point 2 of the installation instructions).

4. After making sure that the self-adhesive photo wallpaper is positioned correctly, start applying it to the wall.

Gradually peel off only the part of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper that you are currently applying and carefully place it on the wall. Make sure that the top part of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper is completely stuck to the wall by at least 10 cm.

To smooth the surface of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper and remove air bubbles, use a wallpaper roller or squeegee. Do this gently so as not to damage the self-adhesive photo wallpaper. Make sure that the entire length of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper is correctly aligned with the vertical line on the wall, and then continue to gradually peel it off the paper. Apply in small sections - peel off a section of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper, then smooth it out by pressing it against the wall.

5. Do not peel off the entire strip of self-adhesive photo wallpaper at once, as this may make it difficult to properly fit it and correct any irregularities during application. If necessary, if you notice a mistake, you can carefully peel off the self-adhesive photo wallpaper and re-apply it to the wall during installation.

6. Repeat the same action of applying the self-adhesive photo wallpaper to the wall for the next strips, taking care to precisely match the pattern "butt joint". Remember that the strips have been designed to fit together perfectly.

7. Finally, use a roller to smooth the wallpaper and remove any visible air bubbles. Work from the center of the strip outwards, moving towards the edges and up and down. Check that the first strip is positioned correctly along the vertical guide line. If necessary, gently peel off the self-adhesive photo wallpaper and adjust it so that it is perfectly in the designated place.

8. Use a wallpaper knife to cut off excess parts of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper.

9. After installing the self-adhesive photo wallpaper, leave it to dry naturally for a few days. Do not rush this process to avoid damage and ensure that the self-adhesive photo wallpaper adheres properly to the wall.

Post-assembly activities:

1. Check the adhesion of the self-adhesive photo wallpaper to the wall and the evenness of the glued stripes and pattern, assessing this from a distance of 1 to 2 meters.

2. Smooth the self-adhesive photo wallpaper again with a roller to remove any air bubbles.

3. Keep the room temperature above 10°C and ensure a constant air supply for several days after application.

4. Avoid intensive heating or cooling of the rooms in which you apply the self-adhesive photo wallpaper.
